

Mireille Merhej

“This corona paralyzed the world and spread fear everywhere but at the same time it made us think about life and the future of humanity.

This time had a good impact on me. I became more productive, spent my days and nights painting to forget the bad news and disconnect myself from this harsh reality. My work became more colorful than ever. I guess this was my refuge ..my only hope...my escape plan. “